FANCY PATTERN SHEET BRASS
And Its Uses

THE popular use of figured materials in the metal arts and crafts has created an increasing demand for Fancy Pattern Sheet Brass, also known to the trade as "Embossed Metal" or "Seeded Metal." Because this figured sheet Brass can be obtained in strips and coils, showing a wide variety of patterns, thus obviating the necessity of embossing each piece separately after it is formed, it is conveniently and economically used for many different kinds of articles, such as those suggested on the following pages.

Fancy pattern sheet has been successfully manufactured by this Company for many years and a highly efficient department has been developed to serve the trade. The decorative treatment is obtained by passing flat strips through rolls having a figured design engraved on their surfaces. Certain patterns can be embossed on both sides of the sheet, others on one side only.

The American Brass Company has reproduced in this booklet the stock patterns which can be obtained direct from the mills in sheets or coils, embossed ready for forming. These patterns are not confined to Yellow Brass but can be applied to Copper, Red Brass, Low Brass, Rich Low Brass, Commercial Bronze and some grades of Nickel Silver. New and exclusive designs can be made to order, providing the quantities required are sufficiently large to warrant the expense of new embossing rolls. The Company will be glad to take this question up with customers interested.

Prices quoted upon request.
